Differentiated Instruction

What is Differentiated Instruction?

Differentiation is an instructional process in which teachers proactively accommodate curriculum, instruction, learning activities, and student products to maximize each student’s growth and individual success by meeting their learning needs.

The Research

Effect Size: .60

Differentiated Instruction helps students follow their own paths to learning.

The teacher coordinates time, space, materials, and activities.

The contents of this presentation were developed under a grant from the US Department of Education to the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (#H323A120018). However, these contents do not necessarily represent the policy of the US Department of Education, and you should not assume endorsement by the Federal Government.